

ANOTHER WET SPELL NOW PROMISED ZION

Low Barometric Pressure Has Been Located by Dr.
Hyatt.

SATURDAY'S TEMPERATURES.

Minimum ..... 32 degrees
Maximum ..... 43 degrees
Mean ..... 37 degrees
Above normal ..... 4 degrees

Forecast for Sunday: Snow.

Well, Dr. Hyatt has found that low barometric pressure area again that he lost so mysteriously last Friday, and Saturday morning he said it was centered squarely over Utah. Of course, he explained this would cause snow in this vicinity either last night or today, and would be accompanied by colder weather. A trace of precipitation was reported Saturday, and for awhile in the middle of the day it looked as if it was going to snow. It was more or less cloudy all day, and rain fell in the evening.

A storm of moderate energy was central over Utah Saturday, causing rain or snow over portions of Montana, Nebraska, California and South Dakota. Another storm was central over the north Atlantic coast, producing precipitation over portions of the Atlantic and Gulf states, Lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys and Tennessee. It was snowing Saturday morning at Pocatello, Havre, Duluth, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Scranton. The temperature rose 10 degrees or more over portions of Montana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Tennessee and Alabama, with a corresponding fall over portions of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and the Lake region.

The low barometric pressure will cause local snow Sunday and colder tonight in this locality.

Saturday's meteorological record at the local station of the weather bureau for the twenty-four hours ending at 6 p. m. was as follows:

Temperature at 6 p. m., 35 degrees; maximum temperature, 43 degrees; minimum temperature, 32 degrees; mean temperature, 37 degrees, which is 4 degrees above normal.

Total excess of temperature since the first of the month, 10 degrees.

Accumulated deficiency of temperature since January 1, 548 degrees.

Total precipitation since the first of the month, .01 of an inch, which is .19 of an inch below normal.

Accumulated excess of precipitation since January 1, 5.42 inches.

Relative humidity at 6 p. m., 75 per cent.

MURRAY SOCIETY

Special to The Tribune.
MURRAY, Dec. 5.—Miss Lyle Cannon entertained for about a score of her schoolmates Saturday in honor of her birthday anniversary. The home was quite tastefully decorated for the occasion. An entertaining programme was rendered and music and games participated in by all during the afternoon. Later on a delicious luncheon was served on a long oval table, which was bright with different species of flowers.

A simple but pretty wedding was that of Miss Fanny Peterson and Ras Easmussen, a college man of Draper. The marriage took place at the Peterson home. The bride wore a gown of white messaline with lace trimmings and carried a great shower of bride's roses. The home was bright with flowers, masses of pink chrysanthemums decorating the parlors where the ceremony was performed. Following the wedding a reception to nearly 100 friends and close relatives of the young people was given.

Miss Helene Myers and N. L. Jensen, both of this place, were united in marriage the fore part of the week.

The young men of the Murray Dramatic association will entertain the coming week at a musical festival to be held at the first ward chapel.

Arthur Wood entertained at his home on Fourteenth South street Saturday evening at a stag party, at which there were about a score of young men, all college chums of his.

Mrs. J. A. Strong will leave for Portland Monday, where she goes to spend the holidays with relatives.

Miss Alice Hardy entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of her parents on East Sixteenth South street. The event was in honor of her sixteenth birthday anniversary.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ogden, Dec. 3.
Will you kindly answer the following question? Is there any postal law prohibiting "the endless chain" READER.

No law, but we understand that there is a ruling of the postoffice department against it.

Salt Lake City, Dec. 3.
Would you please answer a question in your paper? Could it be possible that the old Confederacy could control the Federal government now through conspiracy? READER.

Quite impossible until the seceding states become the majority of all the people in the Union, a situation, looking from the present situation, practically impossible.

Salt Lake City, Dec. 1.
To decide a guessing contest in which considerable money is involved, will you kindly answer in next Sunday's issue, or earlier, if possible, this question? What was the total vote cast for governor of Utah November 3? In The Tribune issue of November 28 a total vote of 111,856 was shown. The Herald showed 111,855, a difference of one vote. We cannot award the prize with the two totals, as a different party wins, by taking The Tribune figure, and that shown in The Herald. It is just possible that neither figure was the exact total cast on the final figure, in which event a more decisive result can be obtained. If you will quote the exact total I will be greatly obliged, so will the winner.

A SUBSCRIBER.
The total vote for governor in Utah at the election, November 3, was 111,855. There is a typographical error in the footing in The Tribune for Street of 1; it should have read 11,472 instead of 11,473.

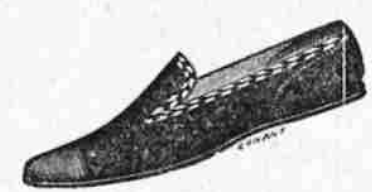

Edie, Ida., Nov. 30.
Will you please answer in your Salt Lake Tribune a bet I bet that deer and elk are protected ten months of the year in Utah, Idaho and Montana; also, that bear and moose are protected in the three states till 1910. B says they are not? A SUBSCRIBER.

We are not settling bets, but A and B are both wrong. It is not lawful to kill deer or elk at any time. They are protected for twelve months in the year for the four years succeeding March 23, 1907, so far as Utah is concerned. There is no mention of bear and moose in the Utah law, because moose are not supposed to be in Utah at all, and beaver are practically extinct. The law on this subject is as follows (Section 1052, New Revised Statutes):

It shall be unlawful and a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not less than $100, for any person, at any time, for the next succeeding four years (from March 23, 1907), to shoot at or in any manner kill any deer, elk, antelope, mountain sheep, otter, or beaver, or any game animals or birds that may be brought or introduced into this state by the fish and game department or by private individuals for the purpose of stocking the state with said animals or birds, or to capture and hold in confinement any of the animals or their young, mentioned in this section, unless it be for public or private parks within this state, and then only by permission of the state fish and game commission; and it shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $100, to sell or offer for sale any part or parts of any of the animals mentioned in this section. Any person or persons giving information or evidence that will lead to the conviction for violation of any of the provisions of this section shall receive one-half of the fine collected for such violation; provided that any resident of the state of Utah may be allowed the right to kill not exceeding two male deer, with horns, during the period from October 1 to November 1 of each and every year.

We show in this assortment elastic side nullifiers, opera or everet cut slippers; the uppers are seal, goat, kid or calf. Particular mention is made of the way these slippers are lined and the general finish; in fact they match up with the $2.50 and $3.00 sorts; if you want the real thing look at these.

High top shoes, a source of constant delight to boys and girls, no present you can give will delight them so much regardless of its cost. They are what every child most desires and in line with our progressive policy of having just what you want when you want it we are showing a wonderful line of of these goods.

The buyers for the misses and children, boys and youths have vied with each other in putting out a bunch of gingerly styles that duplicate the grown up sorts. As the father in days of old valued his red top boots, so does the boy of today prize his high tops. The higher the better, and we show the very highest top patterns made.

We advise early buying as notwithstanding our large stock of these goods, previous experience tells us that we will be short of sizes. Boys' extra high top shoes, buckle or plain effects, made for all ages of boys; yes, even for the little shaver, 3 or 4 years old. Little and big girls high top shoe, just like the big girls wear, tan or black in calf skin, storm boots, also black kid button; and when it comes to boys grown up or men's high tops ask any of the fellows that are "wised" up on the high top question and we are the answer.
